Organized in 1990,
The Chesapeake Area Professional Captains Association, Inc.
(CAPCA)

strives to advance individual professional development and provide professional growth opportunities for licensed mariners in the Chesapeake Bay region.

The only criterion for membership is a current U.S. Coast Guard Deck Officer's License.

CAPCA members participate in the Jobs Referral Program where members are made aware of dealers, boat owners, and others who request the services of a professional captain.

For more information about joining CAPCA or to find a professional captain for your boat, business, or

CAPCA meets on the 4th Monday of every month, except August and December at Annapolis Elks Lodge #622, 2517 Solomons Island Rd., Edgewater, MD 21037. Please check web site or phone to confirm meeting location and details.

Informal social gatherings begin at 6:30 pm with meetings starting at 7:15pm. Meetings are free and usually open to guests and interested members of the public.

Monthly programs are on topics especially important to maritime professionals (both licensed and aspiring) and are a key part of CAPCA. Sea tales often make their way into the evening's conversation. Administrative matters are kept to an absolute minimum!

You'll enjoy special training opportunities, regulatory updates, the latest in safety information, and new business opportunities.

Join us and enhance your networking opportunities while staying current in the field.

If you hold a current U.S. Coast Guard Deck Officer's License, you are encouraged to join CAPCA.

Or, if you just love boats and boating, make CAPCA's monthly meetings a habit. You'll benefit from CAPCA's unique constituency.
